Summary: A not-so-serious story about a not-so-original idea set in the world of Pokemon! Join our OC as he travels the regions and conquers them to be a Pokemon Master! ...at least I hope he does. Gamer!OC PossiblyOP!OC AU Rated T just in case. Reviews appreciated, especially criticism due to my horrible stories. Heh.

1. Reincarnation, I guess?

Err, this will be my fourth fan fiction, which I will update weekly or biweekly since I'm a lazy bum hole. ahem Anyway, this story will be about your typical Gamer OF story, only that it's set in the world of Pokemon (the games and a tad bit of the anime, to be precise and some changes, so basically an AU). Lazy author and vague story details aside, this story probably won't be all that serious... I guess? Please note that this is written on a phone, so spelling and some grammatical mistakes may be seen.

DISCLAIMER: I don't own Pokemon, duh.

-insert le line break here-

You know how some people say that once you die, you go into some kind of afterlife? Well if my knowledge on The Gamer fan fiction and other life is a game fan fiction, then that is exactly what's happening to me at the moment.

'GAME OVER, huh?' I thought, somehow rather calm.

[GAME OVER, you have died in a miserable car crash, based in your extreme obsession over monster-taming RPGs, you have been chosen to be reborn in the world of Pokemon!]

'Huh, neat.'

[Do you wish to be reborn in the world of Pokemon?] [YES]

[NO]

'What insane original plot idea do you think this is gonna go? Hell yes!' I thought as I tapped on the first option.

[Thanks for your decision! GLHF!]

I read that last sentence as I slowly fell into the embrace of unconsciousness.

-some unspecified time later-

[You have slept in a bed, all of you and your current Pokemon's HP, PP have been restored and all status ailments have been cured!]

Waking up, I closed the pop up and looked around, looks like I'm in a room in a Pokemon Center? Heh, neat. I'm gonna guess I'm not in shock and all since I have [Gamer's Mind].

DING!

[Very good observation skills, gamer! *hint *hint]

Oh, I get it. I looked around and found a nearby chair, focusing on it's details I was waiting for my ability to-

DING!

[Due to precise observation to details, you have gained the skill Observe!]

[Observe, Lv1 EXP: 10%] PP: 99/100

Description: A skill that let's you, well, observe things.

Then another window appeared in front of me.

Wooden Chair Durability: 8/10

A comfy, cushioned, wooden chair, what did you think this was?

Apparently my ability had a 'sense of humor'.

Getting my self off of the bed, I stood up and did some streches for a while, then doing some push-ups for a little bit and...

...

Nothing? ...

...

...

Maybe just a few more push-u-

DING!

Oh you son of a-

[Due to putting your body through tiring exercises, your VIT has gone up by 1!]

Eh, got a status increase. Which reminds me...

"Status," I quietly whispered.

Name: ?

Level: 1

Title: The Gamer

Stats:

STR: 5

VIT: 6

DEX: 5

INT: 10

WIS: 10

LUCK: 5

Status: Well rested, (+25% HP regen, regen 1 PP for every skill/min 20% chance to not use PP.)

Eh? What's my name?

I seem to have forgotten...

Ah, maybe I'll be able to choose later when someone asks for it. That has got to be it.

DING!* **

[Due to thinking things through, your WIS has increased by 1!]

Heh, can't deny free points.

Just then, there was a knock in the door.

"Hello? Sir? Are you awake?" A feminine and familiar voice asked from the other side of the door.

"Eh? Yeah, just give me a minute," I replied.

"Okay, don't take too long," the voice said in return.

About a minute later, I opened the door to see...

Nurse Joy? Ah, I'm in the world of Pokemon, can't forget.

"Good to see you're awake, sir. Could you tell me what happened?" she asked.

"Eh, whaddya mean?" I asked, clearly confused.

"I mean to ask how'd you end up unconscious in front of the Pokemon Center," she said, tilting her head to the side.

"Oh, that. Well, I can't really remember much about that," I said back.

"Well could you at least tell me your name?"

DING!

The world greyed out and seemingly froze as I was presented with a window.

[What is your name?: _ (?)]

A bit confused at it's presence, I clicked on the question mark.

[Your name can only consist of 25 letters. However, numbers and special characters such has /, !, and $ are not allowed, especially for those who will write something such as "xX_pu$$Â¥$14yr_Xx".]

I blinked at the last part of the description, that was an... interesting name.

Deciding on the name, I carefully tapped it on the floating blue window in front of me.

"Oh, my name is-"

And, cut! As you can see, I am a very inexperienced and bad writer, especially when it comes to names. (So be a dear and help and choose a name and suggest OCs for this poor, poor idiotic writer!

2. Goddamn decisions!

Hey everyone, this will be the second chapter. If you're wondering why I'm updating early, it's because I'm in a rather good mood and I don't want y'all to keep waiting. Anyway shout out to everyone who gave some feedback and suggestions, I'll try to use your criticism and suggestions in this story, now on with this embarrassing mess I made! Also please note I'm changing some of the ways the Gamer ability is written.

-insert ye olde line break here-

Huzzah! Okay, I got my name. Since I'm a reincarnation of the old me, I guess I'll go with..

...

Rico Umarekawari (AN: I'm pretty sure that's Japanese for reincarnation)!

Making up my mind I quickly typed it onto the floating window in front of me.

[Are you sure you want your name to be 'Rico Umarekawari'?] [YES] [NO]

Going with the definitely not obvious option, I accepted.

"Eh, my name is Rico Umarekawari," the now named Rico replied.

"Hmm, okay, if you're feeling better, you should head home then, Rico. Your parents would definitely be worried if their little boy didn't go home, now."

Wait, what town am I in?

"Uh, sorry to ask miss, but... where exactly am I?"

At my question, the nurse titled her head, "You're in Viridian City, why ask?"

Oh, so I'm in Kanto... interesting

"W-well, I don't really remember how I got here, and I don't think I have any parents," I replied, seemingly downcast.

At my statement, the nurse's eyes practically widened to the size of dinner plates. "Huh?! You don't have parents?"

Oh yeah, I'm in the body of a 9 year old now. Hmph.

"Y-yeah, sorry to trouble you, I should go..."

"N-no! It's fine! You shouldn't be going around without parents or at least a legal guardian!"

"Okay... but where will I go?"

Pondering over my question for what felt like hours, which was actually only two minutes, she finally replied, "I guess you could stay at the Pokemon Center, but that depends on how long you'll stay here..."

"Well, I want to be a Pokemon trainer when I turn ten!"

At this statement, the Joy's eyes lit up, "Well that's great! You can stay here for a year then going your journey!"

Oh Pokemon, letting ten year olds roam alone in a world full of dangerous creatures. Also barely any logic here whatsoever, I guess that makes it easier for me.

Oh, I should observe Nurse Joy. 'Observe'.

Viridian Joy

Title: Nurse

Lvl: 5

Stats:

STR: 5

VIT: 5

DEX: 12

INT: 15

WIS: 15

LUC: 5

The Nurse Joy from Viridian City. Contrary to popular belief, Joy is just a family name and their first names are based on the City they were born in, which they usually stay in for the rest of their lives.

Status: Nothing at the moment.

What's up with that high DEX? I know why she'd have high INT and WIS but not DEX... Oh, I see. She needs fast precise movements for operations, I guess.

DING

[Carefully thinking about something has earned you one point in WIS!]

Woopty-freaking-doo, more free stat points.

Ah well, if I'm gonna spend a year here, might as well get my stats as high as possible! Oh, and level up and get new skills too.

-one year later because this author is lazy as hell-

[Observe's level has been maxed out!]

[Observe Lvl: MAX PP: Unlimited]

Description: With this skill maxed out, you can observe practically anything you want, granted their not something like 50 levels above you or something. Oh have mercy, lord of observations!

Oh, hahaha. Well might as well check my stats. 'Status'.

Rico Umarekawari

Title: The Gamer

Lvl: 8

Stats:

STR: 10

VIT: 11

DEX: 22

INT: 32

WIS: 23

LUC: 33

Rico is the one and only Gamer that is in the Pokemon universe. He is not much of an active person if he is being made to do something which he doesn't want to, but when he does something he likes, you shouldn't stop him.

Status: Nothing at the moment.

Heh, used a bunch of my stat points for LUC since it apparently affects my capture rates. No regrets.

I hope.

Oh yeah, better check my skills. 'Skill List'.

Skills:

(AN: I'll put descriptions and etc. for the new skills, so basically everything but observe.)

Observe Lvl: MAX PP: Unlimited

Pokemon Care Lvl: 11 Exp: 5% Passive

Treat your Pokemon with lots of love and care!

Passively grants 22% more affection gains from interacting with Pokemon.

Your Pokemon deals 0.11% more damage for each % of your Pokemon's affection / friendship (ex, 50% affection means 5.5% damage dealt.)

Battle Tactics Lvl: 5 Exp: 65% Passive

Power means nothing without strategy, right? Command your forces the best way possible!

Passively grants 10% chance for a Pokemon to listen to you if they wouldn't obey in normal circumstances.

Grants an additional 2.5% amount of damage dealt with attacks while in battle.

Additional 5% chance for attacks that would've missed to hit.

Cooking Lvl: MAX Passive

Be the chef the world needs, cook the best meals, anytime, anywhere! Without food, we'd all be dead anyway, right?

Grade of cooked food: SS! You make the best food, ever!

100% of food being successfully made.

200% added to the flavor of the food.

People who eat your food will be completely satisfied.

I guess I'm sort of a lazy bum, so I didn't make much progress, other than on observe and surprisingly cooking. I can blame Nurse Joy for that, she always teaches me and makes me cook, not that I'm complaining.

"Hey Rico, today's the big day!" Nurse Joy yelled at me from the other side of my bedroom door.

Now that really woke me up, which was sort of a bad thing for me considering I literally jumped and fell out of bed.
Ouch.

DING!

[Due to falling out of bed like a complete idiot, you have been compensated with one point in VIT!]

Sometimes I really want to punch my ability in the face.
Really.

Walking to the door I let out a tired sigh before opening it, where I was met with a large grin from Nurse Joy, who is sorta like my mom now, even though I'm not adopted.

I shot back a nervous smile as scratched my head. Sighing, I said, "Ah, I guess this is where I leave, huh?"

Nurse Joy looked a little sad at my remark, "Oh I'm gonna miss you!"

"I know, _mom._"

"Well, I guess you have everything packed based on how tired you are, so just est breakfast and head over to Pallet Town to get your starter, have fun!"

"I won't forget it, I'll visit you sooner or later anyways, see ya!"

-some time later when the main OC reaches pallet town since this stupid writer is way too lazy and can't be bothered to write him going there-

pant pant pant I guess I'm finally at Pallet

Town.

DING!

[You have entered Pallet Town! Local Map updated!]

Neat. Okay, so based on the map the Lab should be... there. Found it.

-later at the lab damn what a lazy writer-

Okay, I'm here!

"Ah, you must be Rico." I heard a voice say.

Turning around I identified the owner of said voice as Professor Oak.

"Yeah, that's me."

"You must be here to get your starter Pokemon, right?"

"Spot on, professor!" I said as I flashed him a grin.

"Well I don't have any normal Kanto starters, so I'm afraid you'll have to take one of these three; Gible, Dratini or Bagon," the professor said with a nervous smile.

"THAT'S EVEN BETTER!" I yelled in happiness, this was amazing!

[You're close to becoming a trainer for real! But here's one of a trainer-in-the-making's hardest choices, which started to choose?]

Would you like: [Gible], [Dratini] or [Bagon]?

Oh boy, I noticed the world fade into a grey color as everything but me froze.

This might take a while.

It really just might. Goddamnit.

And, cut! Please feel free to review what starter you'd like to be chosen, as this idiotic writer (baka!) doesn't know how to make a poll, and is probably too lazy to make one. sigh Please R&R, and I hope you enjoyed, hehehe.

3. Eh? A very special starter!

Uh, hi. This'll be the third chapter for this fanfic and I will introduce something different but very, very clichÃ©. Also, for the next week or the proceeding week there will be either an increase in updates or a decrease since I have exams, which means I will be studying a lot but go home from school at a very much earlier time, which means I might update more. Might. Anyway, I hope you understand and now, on with this poorly made and poorly thought of chapter!

"I choose... Gible!"

"I see, but please note that this gible is a bit... different."

"How, exactly?"

"Well, this gible is what is known as a rare varient of it's species. Varients are not common at all and are a bit different from their normal species. This gible is a rare subspecies of the gible species where it for reasons beyond us are also part ice type. They are black and a light blue instead of their normal colors. Where it would be dark blue, it is black, and light blue everywhere else. Varients are often weaker in general, but they grow much stronger upon leveling up. It is estimated that of all varients in the wild, only 10% of them survive, due to many different reasons."

"Well then..." I muttered slowly, to which the professor let out a sigh, "that just makes him a whole lot cooler!" at which the professor fell down on the floor, anime style.

"Ah, thanks. Here is your pokedex and five pokeballs for your journey."

[Received items: Pokedex and Pokeballs x5!]

[Received Pokemon: Gible (Rare Variant)]

[Would you like to give Gible a name?] [YES] [NO]

Thinking over it for a few seconds, I chose yes and named him Frost, very original, right?

Hmm, I wonder how I check his stats...

Maybe, I just think about it. 'Pokemon'.

No?

'Team' at which then, a new window popped up.

Pokemon Team:

Gible (Frost) Lvl 5 **

1/6 slots taken.

Then, I clicked on Gible, err... Frost's name.

Frost **

Level 5

Species: Gible (Varient)

Typing: Dragon/Ice

Nature: Adamant

Gender: Male

Ability: Ice Body (Varient) **

Just like a normal ice body, but this is a varient found in a varient species of the gible evolution line where all ice type attacks deal +50% damage and the owner of this ability no matter what takes half damage from ice type attacks.

Stats:

HP: 15

ATK: 9 (+10%, +0.9)

DEF: 8

 : 6 (-10%, -0.6)

 : 8

SPD: 10

Moves:

Tackle PP: 35/35 Physical Attack

Power: 50 Accuracy: 100 Normal Type Attack

An attack where the user does a full-body charge against an opponent.

Ice Fang PP: 15/15 Physical Attack

Power: 65 Accuracy: 95 Ice Type Attack **

10% chance to freeze 10% chance to make opponent flinch

An attack where the user bites down on a user with ice-infused fangs which can freeze or make the opponent flinch.

Rico's starter Pokemon. Also a rare varient that is insanely powerful when it is in it's most evolved form, Garchomp.

Status: Varient (+3% to all stats for every level after level 5, -50% exp needed for lvl ups).

Woah! That varient status is OP! SO OP! But his stats are a bit below average, I guess. He has some good moves though.

Deciding to go for a test run, I ran to the nearest route.

-a few boring minutes later (in spongebob narrator voice from now on)-

DING!* **

[You've entered a battle with a wild Pokemon!]

[Wild Pidgey wants to fight!]

"Go! Frost!" I said as I threw his pokeball, him materializing soon after.

Frost let out a battle cry as he was let out of his ball.

[FIGHT] [POKEMON] [ITEMS] [FLEE]

Seeing the obvious option, I chose to fight.

[CHOOSE A MOVE:] [TACKLE 35/35 ?] [ICE FANG 15/15 ?] [Click on the question marks for more information on a move.] [BACK]

Deciding to go for a quick kill, I decided to use ice fang on the pidgey, who was level 3.

[Frost used Ice Fang! Pidgey took 16 damage!]

[OHKO! Pidgey fainted!]

[Your Pokemon earned 23 EXP!] **

[Frost has leveled up one time!]

Heh, maybe being a varient was a good thing for Frost. Fast level ups.

Well, it's grinding time, I guess.

-one grind fest later (once again in spongebob narrator voice)-

[Frost has leveled up one time!]

I should explain how different my Gamer ability makes this.

Pokemon have stay points now, and aside from the points they get from leveling up, this is a separate way of getting stronger. I think I'll save them up for now. Anyway, lemme check Frost's stats now.
